Organizational Changes

There were high hopes when McDonnell became Sheriff. Most employees actually wanted to see changes made to remove the systemic nepotism, favoritism and abuses of power by managers that existed under Baca and Tanaka. But those changes came slowly ... too slowly. We gave McDonnell a pass for his first year, because the LASD is a huge department and we understood it would take time for him to get his head around all the issues. But as we waited, we saw more favoritism and more abuses of power by managers.
We saw the same actions by different executives, such as promoting friends and punishing those who “challenged their authority.” The faces changed, but the abuse was the same. We also saw the Department implement organizational changes that were deeply troubling, such as the creation of the constitutional policing advisors (CPAs), who neither address constitutional issues nor advise. These CPAs injected themselves into disciplinary decisions and became the “gods” from whom executives had to receive blessings in order to issue discipline. The CPA positions were created in violation of law (meet and confer requirements), as well as in violation of our MOU. Not only did the Department lie about the role of CPAs (ironic, considering the strict honesty policy), but rather than admitting the error of their ways, they have fabricated excuses and circled the wagons to defend their position. Again, the faces have changed, but the abuse is the same.
The Department would have received a lower rating in this area, but we are pleased to see McDonnell finally making some organizational changes for the better. It appears the Sheriff has settled in and gotten the lay of the land, and is now making some positive changes. We hope to see more changes, with a focus on fair treatment of employees and more accountability for Department executives.

Promotions

The Sheriff’s Department has made significant strides to improve the promotional process. It eliminated the Appraisal of Promotability process that was producing an average rating of over 98 out of 100. It eliminated the oral interview process, which was problematic due to cheating and favoritism, and replaced it with an in-basket exercise. This process has a few bugs still to be worked out, but it has eliminated the corruption that existed in the previous process. The biggest flaw that still remains in the process is the banding of candidates, which allows management to select a lower-scored individual before a higher-scored one. This banding process results in less-qualified individuals promoting before qualified candidates by simply positioning themselves in aide positions or highly visible positions. This doesn’t mean all aides are bad or unqualified, but the process allows for less-qualified folks to position themselves to be promoted before more qualified ones and allows managers to promote based on considerations other than merit.

LASD Report Card

Two years ago, I started incorporating a year-end report card of the Sheriff’s Department into my Annual Report message, expressing the successes and failures of the Sheriff and his management team from the perspective of PPOA and the employees. The ratings and comments are not meant to “out” poor conduct, but rather to provide information that the Department can use to determine their effectiveness from the employees’ perspective. The employees are the most important asset of the Department and should be valued by management. It is our hope that Sheriff McDonnell and his executives will take the information we provide and use it to improve the quality of leadership and the overall management of the Department.

Organizational Changes

From a union standpoint, each year inevitably has its ups and downs. From contracts to lawsuits to legislation, it’s easy to get caught up in the business side of PPOA. Then 2016 happened. The LASD/PPOA family lost not one but two brothers in the line of duty within weeks of each other, and that tragic month of October produced countless reminders that this Department is a family first. In talking to the widows of Steve Owen and Al Lopez, it hit home that we (all of us) are truly their extended family, now more than ever. That is my strongest takeaway from 2016.

In terms of union issues, there was plenty to keep the PPOA staff busy (see year-end labor representation stats on page 8). I’m also proud to report that the Star & Shield Foundation online uniform store has been doing brisk business in its first 12 months, and that means a lot of PPOA members have been saving a lot of money. As a union, we also played a key role in the fight to reform the California death penalty (Prop 66). As you know, the stakes were extremely high — a competing measure (Prop 62) sought to repeal the death penalty altogether. PPOA hosted press conferences and spent considerably to actively campaign for Prop 66. In the end, voters made the right choice and voted with us and against the opposition. Win—win, as they say. On the flip side, California voters somehow fell for the governor’s deceptive measure (Prop 57) that allows for early release of felons in state prison. PPOA teamed up with law enforcement associations statewide to combat it, but money talks in politics and our collective resources ($1.6M) were no match for the opposition ($13.7M) this time. All the more reason for PPOA to push hard to build our political action funds for the upcoming battles in 2017.

LASD Report Card

Two years ago, I started incorporating a year-end report card of the Sheriff’s Department into my Annual Report message, expressing the successes and failures of the Sheriff and his management team from the perspective of PPOA and the employees. The ratings and comments are not meant to “out” poor conduct, but rather to provide information that the Department can use to determine their effectiveness from the employees’ perspective. The employees are the most important asset of the Department and should be valued by management. It is our hope that Sheriff McDonnell and his executives will take the information we provide and use it to improve the quality of leadership and the overall management of the Department.
Department” issue, such as needing a female or a foreign-language-speaking person at a specific assignment, the Department should institute the “rule of five” or the “rule of 10.” This would allow the Department to choose someone lower on the list (but no lower than five or 10 individuals). In doing so, however, it would guarantee everyone above that point in the group of five or 10 to be promoted before being allowed to go to the next group of five or 10. The Department has vastly improved the promotion process and kept us apprised of changes, and we greatly appreciate the manner in which they are conducting themselves, but a few minor changes will make the promotional process as fair and equitable as it can be.

Accountability, Transparency and Oversight

The Department has certainly improved its accountability and transparency from the public’s perspective. With the creation of the Civilian Oversight Commission, we would expect oversight to increase as well. These aren’t necessarily bad things. All of us want an ethical Department and want the public to trust us. But the danger is going too far to one side just to appease a few Biased, Loud, Militant police haters who will complain about any police action, whether appropriate or not. It is our hope that McDonnell will support his employees against these radicals and defend the honor of the men and women who put their lives on the line every day. This rating could be higher if executives were held to the same accountability standards as line-level employees.

Discipline, Investigations and Relieved of Duty Status

The Department would have received an F grade had it not been for Assistant Sheriff Harrington coming in, reviewing all the Custody Division relieved of duty (ROD) cases and bringing some back to work who should not have been ROD. We believe ROD is still being misused Department-wide, but we are grateful that one executive had the courage to look at things objectively and do the right thing. This was a vast change from the “Relieve them all of duty and we will figure it out later” mentality of some executives. What these executives lacked was care and compassion for their employees. There is a time for discipline and a need for ROD, but it should not be doled out lightly, and the decision maker should always remember that these employees have families and mortgages, not to mention what an ROD does to the psyche of the employee. Why these executives feel the need to destroy employees and turn good ones, some of whom made minor mistakes, into disgruntled ones is beyond my comprehension.

The Department recently changed its Guidelines for Discipline and, well, made termination the standard discipline for everything! Although I am exaggerating this point, the Department has definitely increased its punishment guidelines. Let’s see what they do when the executives are caught violating these policies. Based on what we have seen this year, I expect the continuation of disparate treatment between line-level employees and executives who commit the same violations. Why the difference? I don’t believe it is intentional in most cases. It is different because when the Sheriff himself issues discipline, he does so with compassion, resulting in his executives being treated with respect and understanding. But when other executives or the CPAs issue discipline to lower-level employees, they do so with no regard for the person and with little compassion. Of course, that is not always the case, and many executives do the right thing. But we believe this area needs massive Improvements, and McDonnell should keep a close eye on what is happening below him in this department.

Morale

This category was difficult to rate, because we are in the process of working with Sheriff McDonnell to improve morale. The Sheriff has been open to suggestions and is working with us to address some problems that are hurting morale. But this grade is based on the current state of morale, which we believe is in need of some serious uplifting. Low morale can be attributed to many things, including excessive overtime and drafting of employees, excessive discipline and erroneous use of ROD, disparate treatment, unfair promotional process and so much more. I believe morale is low largely because there were such high expectations of McDonnell when he became Sheriff. Unfortunately, operationally and functionally, nothing changed when he became Sheriff, and in many ways things became worse. Hopefully, now that the Sheriff has been around for a while, he will begin to make the necessary changes to improve the Department operations and morale.

Leadership

Some may ask how I could possibly give an A grade for leadership, considering the marginal ratings in all the categories above. This rating applies to the leadership qualities of Jim McDonnell himself, not his command staff. In my dealings with McDonnell in 2016, he has always been receptive to PPOA’s positions on issues and concerns. He fixed many things we brought to his attention, and I am grateful for his responses to many of the issues. I believe he is aware of the shortcomings of the leadership within LASD and will, over time, make changes for the better — provided that he doesn’t fall into the same trap as Lee Baca and get manipulated by subordinate executives who try to keep him out of the loop. He has some good people in his command, but he is going to have to identify the good and the bad, and that is not always easy. The good are not “yes men,” and the bad are not “the outspoken ones.” The good leaders are those who command the respect of their subordinates, not because of their rank, but because of their abilities as well as their support and respect of those below them.

These ratings are based on activities in 2016, with consideration for McDonnell’s short tenure as Sheriff of Los Angeles County. As time goes on, our expectations will increase and our ratings will be based on those expectations. I have confidence in the ability of McDonnell and other executives to improve the Department, but not without concern. We are a long way from being the Department we should be — not because of failures at the line level, but rather due to management and operational failures. Let’s hope 2017 brings with it improved treatment of the employees and better management and leadership.
It is widely held that the more things change, the more they stay the same — and the list of issues facing Los Angeles County law enforcement when PPOA was formed 65 years ago is a case in point. Deputies took issue with the Department’s handling of the lieutenant’s exam, and peace officers county-wide were concerned about the proposed abolishment of public employee retirement systems (both issues referenced in the April 1952 bulletin to PPOA members). Meanwhile, the image of the Sheriff’s Department was tarnished after corruption charges resulted in the imprisonment of a captain and resignation of the undersheriff.

At the same time, Los Angeles was a starkly different world for law enforcement in 1951. Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz and District Attorney William Simpson were participating in information-sharing agreements with 20 cities back east in order to combat “an influx of Eastern killer hoodlums.” Deputies used Model 870 pump shotguns and wore shoulder straps. Meanwhile, 60 DA investigators were sworn in and given peace officer status under a new law. The Terminal Island Women’s Jail and a new undersheriff named Peter Pitchess were both about to be instated. The L.A. County Marshal’s Office was a fledgling organization made official by an act of the State Legislature.

The cultural shifts in law enforcement, rapid growth, increased responsibilities, and threats to rights and benefits all played a role in prompting employees from the three County agencies to meet late one evening in 1951 at the Hall of Records. They shared ideas about how to collectively protect their general welfare as peace officers and committed to working as a team. They shook hands and agreed to form the Los Angeles County Peace Officers Protective Association (POPA).

Monthly dues were $1 and collected in person by members of the Board, who often had the lone staff member (a female secretary) tag along in order to apply a little social pressure to the men who hesitated to part with a buck. The average monthly paycheck for a deputy sheriff in 1951 was $355, so standards were naturally different. In fact, according to recruitment literature used by the Sheriff’s Department at the time, deputy sheriff applicants were required to possess “no less than 16 natural teeth.”

Before long, POPA’s first office opened in Chinatown. The Board retained an attorney and provided each union member with false-arrest insurance. POPA’s initial efforts centered on defending members’ rights, convincing the County to issue a pay increase and fighting the 1952 proposal to abolish public employee retirement systems. In this sense, POPA’s most important responsibilities have remained unchanged over the last 60 years. The union’s perseverance has resulted in a much-expanded role: POPA (the acronym was altered slightly from “POPA” in 1978, but the original pronunciation has stuck) is now one of the most influential law enforcement associations in the nation. Few single-employer unions have as much impact locally and statewide as this one. In six decades of service, PPOA has accomplished much more than could be listed in this column. A few highlights include:

4850 Time
PPOA sponsored legislation in the 1960s to establish a key benefit for peace officers: paid time off for line-of-duty injuries. Additional legal action in the early 1990s secured 4850 time for custody assistants.

Retirement Credit
PPOA’s efforts in 1972 resulted in a military buy-back program for L.A. County in which peace officers can make a retirement contribution for years in the military and get additional credited service for retirement.

Disability Coverage
In 1990, PPOA co-founded the Peace Officers Relief Fund (PORF), which provides 100 percent employer-paid, long-term disability income, as well as life insurance coverage.

Safety Equipment
Thanks to PPOA’s efforts over the years, peace officers no longer have to purchase their own firearms and safety equipment (e.g., vests), as all became standard-issue by Los Angeles County.

Medical Presumptions
PPOA’s full-time legislative efforts have paid off efficiently over the last three decades, resulting in presumptions for cancer, blood-borne pathogens, heart disease, lower-back (duty belt) injuries, staph infections and more.

POPA Federal Credit Union
PPOA members established their own credit union in 1978. The full-service, nonprofit, member-owned institution now offers four full-service locations in Los Angeles County for all PPOA members.

Fraternal Order of Police
In 2005, PPOA affiliated with the Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) — the world’s largest organization of law enforcement officers (325,000 strong). The FOP affords PPOA members a national voice on legislation and a crucial legal defense plan. The FOP was also the driving force behind HR 218 (enacted in 2004), which allows active and retired officers to carry a concealed firearm in any jurisdiction in the United States, regardless of state or local laws.

Ventura II Lawsuit 2006
A lawsuit filed by PPOA successfully increased pension benefits for future retirees and added $200 million in benefits for those already retired.

Scholarships
Every year, PPOA offers 12 scholarships worth $13,500 total to help further education for PPOA members and their dependents.

Star & Shield Charitable Foundation
PPOA is home to the Star & Shield Foundation, which provides financial support to families of fallen officers, members in need and worthy causes.

New Members
PPOA proudly enrolled 508 new members in 2016, bringing total membership to 8,939 (both record numbers for this association). The state of your union is strong, and we are fully committed to forging ahead in 2017 as a leader among the nation’s most effective law enforcement associations.
The mission of the PPOA labor representation team is to ensure that all PPOA members receive the professional respect, employment rights and legal protections to which they are entitled. As a union member, you have a right to work under conditions that permit your job to be done safely and effectively. Most importantly, you have a right to experienced, professional union representation. Your union reps and attorneys are starkly different from lawyers selling their wares in phone books and low-budget television commercials. Every member of the PPOA labor rep team has more than 20 years of experience with law enforcement and/or labor union representation.

Since January 2016, the PPOA staff has received thousands of calls from members dealing with various issues. More than 700 of those calls were forwarded to PPOA’s labor representation team. In the end, approximately 300 became cases handled by our in-house labor representatives and/or attorneys — the rest were resolved informally via telephone, meetings, conflict resolution or correspondence.

Of the cases handled by the PPOA labor representation team in 2016:

- 179 were internal investigations
- 85 were grievances that either started out as such or became such as a result of the investigation
- 10 were civil service appeals
- 10 were internal criminal investigations

PPOA labor representatives and attorneys (no less than half a dozen specialized firms) are uniquely experienced and familiar with local, county, state and federal administrative agencies and the laws that govern all aspects of the workplace. This allows PPOA to provide skilled representation in every area of labor, including but not limited to:

- Arbitration
- Contract enforcement
- IAB investigations
- ICIB investigations
- Grievances
- Unit-level investigations
- Unfair labor practices
- Workplace issues

If you are not a dues-paying PPOA member, we encourage you to join the union and protect your career. If you are a member, we thank you for helping your union move forward and remind you to call PPOA as soon as you suspect anything may go awry at work. We can help. It’s what we do for members every day.
In 66 years of service, your union has established numerous benefits to make life easier for PPOA members, including our credit union, charitable foundation and college scholarships. One of the most recently established benefits is the PPOA Insurance Agency. How does having your own agency make life easier? The answer is straightforward: We cut out the middleman. Purchasing insurance from your own agency means you don’t have to worry about dealing with agents who are unfamiliar with the needs of law enforcement personnel. You won’t be talked into purchasing overlapping policies from multiple agents who represent multiple insurance providers (this happens more than you’d think!). PPOA insurance agents don’t work for insurance companies; they work for you! They provide a no-obligation review of your coverage and will be frank with you about the coverage you may need or, just as importantly, the coverage you don’t need.

PPOA established an in-house agency because the Board wanted to help members navigate an overwhelming array of providers and products marketed to County employees. As our insurance agency was taking shape, we assembled a team of experienced, trustworthy representatives to work specifically with PPOA members and ensure that the membership has access to the supplemental insurance policies they need — with no heavy-handed salesmanship, no upselling, and no exorbitant fees or commissions. The PPOA Insurance Agency is designed to help our members save money and time while securing appropriate insurance protection.

We believe that the best way to help you obtain the right coverage — at the best possible price — is to help you understand what you need to know about insurance. Have you ever wondered what kind of damage is covered by a basic homeowners policy? Or what types of coverage are generally included in a standard personal auto policy? Want to find out about a disability income policy? Have you ever wondered how much of your paycheck you can protect and how much it would cost? Are you curious about when the time is right to apply for long-term care? Want to know whether an HMO or PPO is best for you and your family? What’s the difference between a disability income policy and a long-term care policy?

We want your insurance to work hard for you and your family. Let us help you find the right protection while giving you the peace of mind that comes with knowing you are covered. The PPOA Insurance Agency is committed to maintaining the highest standards of integrity and professionalism in our relationship with you, our client. We endeavor to know and understand your financial situation and provide you with only the highest-quality information, services and products to help you reach your goals.

Disability Income Protection
Provides income to those who are injured on the job, are sick or can’t work. Does not require you to use or exhaust sick time or vacation time, but does allow you to replace up to 40 percent of your income (in addition to state disability income).

Critical Illness
Relieves financial pressure caused by health issues like heart attacks, strokes or cancer. It provides a lump-sum benefit for covered illnesses. Ideal for those who don’t have funds to cover at least six months of expenses saved in the bank.

Accident Expense
Pays benefit amount based on covered injury. Preferred by people who engage in, or have children engaged in, sports or recreational activities.

Life Insurance
Term policy with death benefit up to $350,000. Does not require a physical or blood/urine tests.

Homeowners, Auto, Boat Insurance and Much More!
Discounted rates extended to all PPOA members. PPOA Insurance Agency representatives visit L.A. County work sites regularly to visit with our members and discuss insurance-related issues. If you’d like them to visit your work location, please contact PPOIA at (909) 599-8627.

t goes without saying that legislation rolling out of Sacramento and Washington, D.C., has profound effects on law enforcement and public employees. That's why PPOA has dedicated significant resources to our lobbying and legislative agenda for more than 30 years. Without strategic, well-planned political action, the many interests of PPOA members as law enforcement employees would be lost in the process of lawmaking. Every hot-button issue for public safety personnel — from cop killers to body cameras to pension reform — is directly affected by legislation. As you know, some legislators support law enforcement and some do not. That's why PPOA's legislative vigilance is absolutely crucial.

PPOA scored numerous legislative victories in 2016. Your union was successful in securing the passage of key bills and defeating dangerous bills that would have been detrimental to PPOA members. This is a partial list of bills introduced in the recent legislative session that PPOA actively supported, opposed or closely monitored:

Good Legislation Supported by PPOA/Signed Into Law

AB 701 (Sex Crimes) changes the definition of rape, spousal rape and unlawful sexual intercourse to instead mean penetration, no matter how slight, of the vagina or anus with any body part or object, or oral penetration by a sex organ of another person, under the specified conditions.

AB 1554 (Powdered Alcohol) prohibits the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control from issuing a license to manufacture, distribute or sell powdered alcohol, as defined.

AB 1798 (Gun-shaped Phone Cases) specifies that an imitation firearm includes a cellphone case that is substantially similar in coloration and overall appearance to a firearm as to lead a reasonable person to believe that the case is a firearm.

AB 2028 (Wrongful Termination) clarifies that “wrongfully” terminated public employees are entitled to have their service credit restored in CalPERS.

AB 2165 (Firearms) expands the list of entities permitted to keep and carry “non-roster handguns” while on active duty, if they have gone through the appropriate training.

AB 2337 (Employment Protections) requires employers to provide their employees with written notice of their right to take time off from work for certain purposes if they are a victim of domestic violence, sexual assault or stalking.

AB 2888 (Sex Crimes) amends the Penal Code to include all sexual assault felonies perpetrated against intoxicated and unconscious victims to the list of offenses ineligible for probation.

SB 6 (Cop Killers) closes a grievous loophole in California’s Medical Parole and Compassionate Release laws to prohibit release of any person who commits murder against a peace officer in the line of duty.

SB 448 (Sex Offenders) makes various amendments to the Californians Against Sexual Exploitation Act to address constitutional concerns relative to requiring registered sex offenders to report their internet identifiers to law enforcement.

SB 1182 (Date Rape Drugs) provides that possession of date-rape drugs (GHB, Rohypnol or ketamine) with the intent to commit a sex crime will be a felony.

Bad Legislation Opposed by PPOA/Prevented From Being Signed Into Law

AB 1948 (Meal & Rest Breaks) would have substantially weakened worker rights to meal, rest and recovery breaks.

AB 1957 (Body Cameras) would have permitted public disclosure of body-worn-camera footage in certain police complaint circumstances.

AB 2468 (Pension Formulas) would have created a new retirement formula under PEPRA, starting with 1 percent at age 55 and maxing out at 2.5 percent at age 70.

SB 966 (Prior Convictions) would have rewarded career drug dealers by giving them the same sentence as someone who has committed a first offense.

SB 1286 (Peace Officer Records) would have allowed general access to records related to sustained charges against an officer, as well as access to records relating to any use of force deemed likely to cause death or bodily injury, and would have allowed persons who filed complaints to access information.

PPOA Key Player in Successful Death Penalty Reform Campaign

PPOA was a leader among law enforcement associations campaigning for Proposition 66 in order to reform (rather than repeal) the California death penalty and, ultimately, speed up executions while saving taxpayers millions of dollars. With significant help from your union, this proposition was approved by voters.

Your union is represented by more than 200 delegates at work locations countywide. The role of the PPOA delegate is crucial in facilitating effective communication between the union's Board, staff and membership. Topics ranging from contract negotiations to legislation to lawsuits are discussed at quarterly meetings held midweek at various facilities. The first meeting of 2017 is scheduled for March 14 (location TBA).

In addition to attending meetings, delegates receive updates (via email and County mail) from PPOA on issues affecting the membership. Delegates are asked to make this information accessible to their co-workers. PPOA also calls upon delegates when input is needed on classification-specific topics or when opportunities arise to serve on a committee or attend union-related events.

Do you have a desire to get more involved and be “in the know” when it comes to issues your union is tackling? All active PPOA members are invited to become delegates. Remember that you are the union, and progress for your classification is deeply dependent on how active you are as a PPOA member and what you are willing to do to take steps forward.

If you are interested in being an actively participating delegate, please contact Greg Torres at gtorres@ppoa.com.

The past year was an exceptionally busy one for the Star & Shield Foundation, due to line-of-duty tragedies that befell both former and current PPOA members. On July 7, former LASD employee Lorne Ahrens was murdered while on duty with the Dallas Police Department. On October 5, LASD Sergeant Steve Owen was murdered while responding to a burglary call in Lancaster. On October 24, LASD Sergeant Al Lopez died in the line of duty while responding to a pursuit in Compton. All three dedicated public servants were survived by widows (two of whom are peace officers as well) and children. All three families received immediate funds from the Star & Shield Foundation to help offset unforeseen expenses. The Foundation also hosted receptions following the funerals for Owen and Lopez. In addition, we made arrangements to fly the Owen family to Minnesota and facilitated a special tribute to the fallen sergeant from the Vikings (Steve’s favorite NFL team) on the stadium Jumbotron, with his widow, Tania, and sons, daughter, mother and brother all on the field to witness it.

These crucial moments for the law enforcement family are precisely why PPOA members established the Star & Shield Foundation in 2001. Since then, the Foundation has proudly raised hundreds of thousands of dollars to support the families of fallen officers, in addition to other worthy causes and organizations.

Try for a moment to imagine the challenges (emotional, financial and otherwise) facing family members of a peace officer suddenly killed in the line of duty. In addition to delivering immediate funds to the survivors, the Star & Shield Foundation helps navigate the pressing schedule of events held to honor fallen officers. Your Foundation is fully committed to offering support and friendship to those in need.

The Foundation’s most significant fundraiser for the past decade has been our annual Peace Officer Memorial Golf Tournament, held each June. The first 10 annual tournaments netted more than $450,000 for families of fallen officers. The next tournament will be held on June 12, 2017, at Friendly Hills Country Club in Whittier. If you would like to support our Foundation as a tournament sponsor or volunteer, please call the PPOA office at (800) 747-PPOA.

More information about each of our 2017 events will be available in Star & Shield magazine, at www.ppoa.com, on Facebook and via email blasts.

All Foundation proceeds stem directly from fundraising, merchandise sales and the generosity of donors. PPOA merchandise includes an entire line of logo items (shirts, hats, jackets, mugs, etc.) displayed in the office lobby and available online at www.poastore.com.

October 2016 proved to be one of the most difficult months in the history of this union and the Los Angeles County Sheriff’s Department. Less than three weeks after mourning the senseless murder of Sergeant Steve Owen on October 5, the LASD family was forced to endure another on-duty death when Sergeant Alfonso Lopez suffered a fatal heart attack while responding to assist deputies involved in a pursuit on October 24. Both men were PPOA members, and our Star & Shield Foundation immediately stepped forward to provide support for the Owen and Lopez families.

Every year, PPOA takes on the solemn yet honorable task of assisting family members dealing with the loss of a peace officer killed in the line of duty. The assistance from the Star & Shield Foundation is provided in a number of ways — from straight donations to sponsoring entire families as they attend memorial ceremonies in Sacramento and Washington, D.C.

The Star & Shield Foundation is a prime example of this Association’s commitment to raise money and awareness for families of fallen officers. Our Foundation currently hosts no less than three events annually to raise funds for the families in need. These include the Peace Officer Memorial Golf Tournament, Heroes Ride and Oktoberfest. If you would like to partner with us as a sponsor, participant or volunteer at any of these events, please call the PPOA office at (800) 747-PPOA.

Most importantly, PPOA extends heartfelt condolences to the families of the following peace officers killed in the line of duty in California in 2016.
